

PROFILE OF MRS FELICIA DAPAAH AGYEMAN BOAKYE, CHIEF DIRECTOR OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT SERVICE

Felicia Dapaah Agyeman Boakye, Chief Director of Ghana's Local Government Service, is a self-motivated administrator with a wide experience spanning over 30 years. As Chief Director, she has a key responsibility to ensure that the mission, strategic plans and objectives of the Office of the Head of the Local Government Service (OHLGS) are informed by inputs from the Executive Management Teams and Leadership of MMDAs of the Local Government Service.

She has proven ability to provide innovative leadership and advisory support in key decision-making moments at the National, Regional and Local levels of public service administration and government governance machinery. She has a track record of promoting effective and efficient coordination, monitoring and evaluation of activities of MMDAs as well as Regional Departments. She can also take credit for the execution of successful assignments at the local level of governance involving major contributions towards building development and growth structures, strategic decision-making, as well as excellent report and speech writing. She is able to engender a feeling of confidence and strong personal interpersonal skills, required to facilitate cooperation and teamwork in support of a workplace that fosters the development of people and capabilities to bring about change for overall development and growth at the local governance level.

Her special expertise areas are: Public Administration and Building of Development and Growth Structures at the Local Governance Level. Mrs. Boakye holds a B.A. Hons Degree, a Post Graduate Diploma in Public Administration, an MPA in Public Administration, as well as an MSc in Project Management. She is a member of the African Association for Public Administration and Management (AAPAM).

She has worked as a District Co-ordinating Director at Bosomtwe District, Ga West Assemblies and Greater Accra Regional Co-ordinating Director